(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

NEW YORK, October 4.—The rain which commenced on Saturday at midnight, lasted till this morning, terminating in a heavy gale, which, however, done no serious damage here-abouts. The railroads south, east and north are, however, much damaged by the heavy freshets and gale. The tracks of the Central, Hudson, Harlem and Erie Roads are washed away in various places. The upper Delaware is twenty feet higher than on Friday.

The freshet in the Schuylkill carried off several freight cars belonging to the Pennsylvania Central Railroad. It reached the second story of the Schuylkill Navigation Stores, swept away large quantities of lumber, merchandise, wagons, &c., besides even mules and horses.

The covered bridge at Manayunk was carried away.

Two boys were drowned by the capsizing of a canal boat.

A great many houses in the city were flooded, particularly on Twenty-third. The occupants escaped in boats.

The water rose seventeen feet at Norristown.

The flood exceeds that of 1850, and the damage is immense.

The Lehigh River rose fifteen feet, causing great damage, the railroad tracks being submerged.

In Baltimore the damage to merchants is very considerable, goods being submerged in many districts, not having been previously removed.

The foundations of many buildings were washed under, and the pavements torn up.

The damages to the railroads are not serious and have been repaired.

PORT CHESTER, N. Y., October 3.—The rain caused the large dam at Russell, Burdsall Ward's iron bolt works, at Pemberwick, two miles north of Port Chester, to break, tearing down the machine shop. Ten persons badly injured. Loss $100,000.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 4.—Much damage was caused by the storm. The canal bridges were washed away, and many houses damaged, but no lives lost.

FURTHER DETAILS.

NEW YORK, October 4.—Accounts received from all sections show that the storm has been general, and to have caused considerable damage. The telegraph, save the cable, has been much interrupted. Many railroad bridges have been carried away.

From White Hall breaks are reported in the canal at various places. Two hundred and fifty feet of torn path was carried away between Mechanicsville and Waterford; fifty feet at Dunham's Basin, about three miles north of Fort Edwards.

At Fort Ann a man named named Julias Lessoe, of White Hall, in endeavoring to escape to the road, was drowned, with his team.

Several bridges on the Rensslear & Saratoga Railroad are swept away, and the track is washed out in several places. Several bridges on the Rutland & Washington Railroad are gone.

Through travel on the Boston and Albany Railroad is stopped, on account of bad breaks, both east and west of Springfield. The fall of water at Springfield reached eight inches.

The village of Westfield is inundated, and it is reported that the loss will amount to $100,000.

No trains through on the Hudson River road since early this morning. Near Castleton two hundred feet of road bed and both tracks are gone. The bridge at Stuyvesant Light House is also damaged, and the culvert near Livingstone station is partially destroyed.

In the town of Rhinebeck, four out of the five bridges are destroyed, and all the approaches to Rhinebeck are cut off.

The Harlem Railroad is washed away in several places, the main difficulty being between Chatham and Dover Plains.

Passenger trains which left Albany at 6:20 this morning, left Poughkeepsie to-night at seven o'clock for New York.

Hudson dispatches report that the bridge at Ghent, on the Harlem Railroad was washed away, together with many others on the line between Ghent and Copack.

The Hudson & Boston Railroad could run no trains through to Chatham to-day. About fifty feet of the track was washed away near Claverack depot, and other damage was done to the road which will be replaced by to-morrow morning.

The construction trains on the Hudson River Railroad, which left Hudson about nine o'clock this morning, to assist in the repairs at Livingston creek, met with an accident at Mount Merino, about a mile and a half from this city, by means of the falling of a culvert as the train was passing over it. The locomotive was thrown over, and the tender fell through the culvert. Several laborers were injured.

SCHENECTADY, October 4.—Several dams in the suburbs of the city are gone, and the flats are submerged. Several of the main streets of the city are under water. The Mohawk River is ten feet above low water mark.

The Erie Canal is in a very bad condition. There are two breaks on Four Mile Level, five miles west of this city. A portion of the aqueduct is also gone on Seven Mile Level. It will take two weeks to repair the damage.

The Central Railroad trains going west are all water bound at this city. The track six miles west of this city is under water, and a portion of the culvert gone. The storm is the severest of the kind ever known in this vicinity.

ALBANY, October 4.—The storm has caused great damage in this city by tearing up pavements, bursting sewers and so forth. The city loses at the low estimate $50,000. In many streets the water was forced into cellars and basements doing great damage. Unfinished buildings were flooded and the work destroyed.

A sewer in Elk street gave way, while a horse and wagon, with three person in the latter, were passing over it, and they were all precipitated ten feet into the sewer. One of the party, a boy named Peter Jones, was, it is feared, fatally injured.

A brick stable erected in Hudson street, by John E. Bells, is so badly damaged that it will have to be demolished.

A land slide occurred on the Susquehanna Railroad, near Norman's Hill, and a culvert was carried away near Esperance.

A bad break occurred on the Four Mile Level on the Erie Canal, and part of the aqueduct has been carried away at Hoffman's Ferry.

The river commenced rising at an early hour, and has continued all day. The water this evening was over the docks and still rising.

STILL FURTHER DETAILS.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., October 4.—The severe rain storm caused the large dam at Russell, Burdsall & Ward's iron bolt works, at Pemberwick, two miles north of Port Chester, to break, tearing down the machine shop. Ten persons were badly injured. The casualties, as far as known, are as follows:

Andrew Michael, aged 45 years, residing in Eastport, Chester county, was crushed to death. He leaves a wife and several children. David Beede, head cut and otherwise injured. Samuel T. Riker, leg broken and other injuries, Edward Greenwood, James H. Burns, Michael Fox, John C. Kane, Louis Diehl, Emmanuel Balmer and Owen Dougherty were also badly injured.

WASHINGTON, October 4.—The rain was unprecedented in violence. The bridges over the canal are washed away.

About midnight the whole reserve force of the Seventh precinct was called out to go to the assistance of the families in Purdy's court, Pennsylvania avenue and First street, the Tiber having overflowed into the court; and to rescue some of the women and children, the officers were obliged to wade in the water up to their necks.

The shanties bordering on the Tiber were overflowed, but the inmates, mostly colored people, got away with their furniture.

Three coffins were washed down the Tiber and lodged near Adams Express Office.

The flood did considerable damage in Georgetown, owing to the rise of the Potomac. The merchants on Water street had to move out their wares.

BALTIMORE, October 4.—Travel on the Northern Central Railroad has been delayed, the railroad between Annapolis and Annapolis Junction being washed away in many places.

PHILADELPHIA, October 4.—The covered bridge at Manayunk was carried away about noon, and the wreck striking the tow path the bridge carried that away. Also in this city, on Twenty-third street, all the houses are flooded from Market street to Callow Hill, as well as all the property between that and the river.

In many houses the occupants had to be taken out in boats.

At Norristown the water rose seventeen feet. The flood exceeds that of 1850. The damages will be immense.

BETHLEHEM, October 4.—The Lehigh river has risen fifteen feet. The damage along the valley is immense. The railroad tracks are submerged and there are no trains running.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

SPAIN.

New York, Oct. 4.—A Madrid special to the Herald says the insurrection is still maintained by the Republicans, who have cut the telegraph wires leading to Provence and stopped the railway trains from carrying government dispatches.

The populace at Bejar is excited, and bands have been organized in Heresca and other places.

Madrid remains quiet.

The Cortes opened yesterday. The government introduced a bill to suspend the rights of individuals till the insurrection in the south is suppressed.

The rebellious movements of the republicans will have the immediate effect of suspending the constitutional guarantees, and the investment of the government with extended powers necessary for the suppression of the insurrection.

It is probable that if the bill demanded by the goverment is passed that the republican deputies will leave the Cortes.

It is asserted that the United States government has renounced all idea of intervening in the case of Cuba.

The Privateer Hornet, alias Cuba.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

WILMINGTON, N. C., October 4.—The Hornet, alias Cuba, appeared off Smithville Saturday evening, flying the Cuban colors. It has been definitely ascertained that she has two hundred men and thirty officers an board. The majority of the latter are ex-Confederates. She anchored inside the bar and sent her engineer and purser to this city to secure a supply of coal, that taken on board off New York not being adapted to quick movements. Suspicions being soon aroused, the officers, after engaging a supply of coal returned to their vessel without making arrangements to get coal aboard. They left this city last night about 12 o'clock for Smithville, 35 miles below, in a small row boat. Collector Rumley chartered the steam tug Alpha this morning at 4 o'clock, and having placed in the hands of a Deputy United States Marshal a warrant issued by a United States Commissioner, placed him on board with a large part of the customs force, with orders to detain the privateer until further orders. Colonel Frank, commanding, the U. S. troops at the Post of Smithville, are expected to co-operate with the Deputy Marshal, if necessary. The officers who visited the city were very bold and confident, insisting that there is no process by which the privateer can be legally detained. The event creates much excitement and comments.

LATER.

WILMINGTON, N. C., October 4.—The privateer Hornet, or Cuba, was seized by the Deputy United States Marshal at Smithville at twelve o'clock to-day, and brought up and anchored a half mile below the city. This evening a number of her officers were in this city, and are positive there is no pretext under which she can be detained by the authorities longer than is necessary to have an investigation into her armament and crew. The Cuba is a formidable vessel, and is represented as having great speed. She is short of coal and provisions now, and her machinery considerably deranged.

In the Geological and Mineral departments G. B. Smith, of Chicago, has a splendid collection of minerals from all parts of the world. In the arena the exhibition was for draft horses, for which Illinois carried off most of the premiums. For carriage horses, W. P. Harvey, of Mercer county, Kentucky, took a premium; and for buggy horses, L. L. Dorsey, of Kentucky, obtained a prize. PETROLEUM ITEMS.

The Titusville Herald says:

An eight barrel well was struck a few days ago on the northern part of Cottage Hill, Oil City. It is owned by Charles Hinds.

Last week a new sixty barrel well was struck on lease No. 65 of the Rynd farm.

Last Tuesday a new well was struck on the Consolidated Petroleum Company's tract, on the continuation of the Cherry-tree run oil belt. It is being pumped with a six horse power engine, and is yielding thirty barrels daily. It is expected that with a twelve horse power engine the product can be increased to at least sixty barrels daily. The working interest is owned by Messrs. Marson & Shrieve. This is almost as important a strike as that made by Arnold & Phinney about two weeks ago on the same belt, as, by it, the producing territory is further extended. These strikes have made the Cherrytree Run district one of the best in the region in which to operate. The demand for leases on the new territory is good, and quite a large number of wells will be commenced on it before cold weather sets in.

At Parker's Landing, on the Allegheny river, the development is progressing satisfactorily. Within the last week a new well was struck on the Robinson tract, opposite the mouth of the Clarion river. This well promises to produce twenty-five barrels daily. It is owned by Hon. Thomas M. Marshall and W. S. Purviance, of Pittsburgh, and Dr. Crawford. Another well was struck within the same time on the Wm. Parker tract. It is owned by Messrs. R. B. Allen & Cooper, and yields twenty-five barrels daily. On Thursday Messrs. Geo. S. Thomas and Sam. G. Morrow commenced testing their new well. It is "showing" finely, and will undoubtedly be a paying institution.

Cold Weather.

Now that cold weather is fast approaching, one of the first and most important matters claiming the attention of heads of households is in relation to a supply of fuel for the season, and the establishment which can supply this want with the best article for the least money is certain to be very largely patronized. In anticipation of this demand, Mr. Charles H. Armstrong, the well known coal dealer, one of the most extensive in our vicinity, has made arrangements for furnishing his patrons with the desired quantities from his celebrated Youghiogheny and Connellsville mines. There is not a better article than this in the market, while the very extensive business and ample facilities enjoyed by Mr. Armstrong enables him to dispose of it at the lowest rates. All orders, whether for large or small supplies of coal, nut coal, slack or coke, will be promptly attended to. The office and yard is located at the corner of Butler and Morton streets, with branch offices on Liberty and Clymer streets, and on Second street. Our readers cannot do better than to patronize Mr. Armstrong, whose long experience in the trade, and high reputation, is a guarantee that any article sent away from his premises is of a first class character.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—There was quite a large and appreciative audience at the Opera House last evening, and the entertainment was one of the best lovers of the drama have witnessed in this city this season. The beautiful French drama entitled "Eustache" was presented, with the gifted young actor, J. W. Albaugh, in the title role, and Miss Mary Mitchell Albaugh as Louise. The piece is new here, this being the first time it has ever been presented, and the audience applauded Mr. and Miss Albaugh throughout. It will be repeated this evening, and all lovers of histronic talent should hear Mr. Albaugh, who is certainly destined to be one of the leading men in his profession.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—The inclemency of the weather last evening seemed to have no effect upon this place of amusements. The performances were fully up to the standard and highly gratified those present, who seemed satisfied with having attended notwithstanding the bad weather. A good bill is offered for to night.

FAULT-FINDING.

BY HENRY WARD BEECHER.

If there is a luxury in the world, it is fault-finding! At any rate, I thus judge from the universality of the exercise. It is not only bread, but cake—at once a necessary and a luxury of life. It sometimes rises into a voluntary exercise, but generally it is something so thoroughly inwrought into the mental constitution that a fish might as well attempt to swim without striking the water with his tail, or a bird to fly without beating the air with its wings, as for a person to speak of his fellow-men without fault-finding.

In general, fault-finding may be divided into the Respectable and the Less Respectable. The Respectable is usually called Criticism. The Less Respectable has a variety of sub-divisions, such as rebuke, scolding, fretting, nagging, etc. Fault-finding is, however, a quality which refuses to be compressed into any definition, or to be confined to any limits, and though it flows far more copiously in some channels than in others, it is by no means wholly to be found there. It flashes from the eye, it rides on the curled lip, it is thrown off by the turn of the head, it is seen in the sudden elevation of the eyebrows, the hand is often litted up in mute and striking emphasis in its behalf, it even suborns silence. There are few things so speaking as a skilful silence.

It may be supposed that, in the imperfection of all things here below, there is never a lack of material for fault-finding. But in sooth, the cause of fault-finding is to be looked for in the person who finds fault, and not in external occasions. A sleepless night, a toothache, nervous exhaustion, reaction from convivial excitement, the irritation of mild sickness, a fit of indigestion—these are the predisposing causes of fault-finding. There are moral causes also. Persons that are very nearly perfect usually employ their excellence as a lens through which to behold the magnified faults of others. Persons of vigorous conscience are apt to be fault-finders. Persons of fastidious taste seldom find anything that quite agrees with them.

A little experience will show that, if one should put himself in another's place, or should consider charitably his difficulties and trials, or should make allowance for human limitation and weakness, it would make fault-finding well-nigh impossible. And it is, I suppose, for this reason that fault-finding people do no allow themselves such liberties.

While fault finding is a generic trait, so that man might be defined as a fault-finding animal, and woman as a fault-finding angel, yet it is not left in its naturally diffused condition. It is organized, and becomes official. In its official sphere, fault-finding becomes a duty as well as a pleasure.

The wife finds fault with the husband. Very soon after marriage, there are certain directions in which his deficiencies appear, and paths are duly laid out up and down through all his weaknesses, and daily his affectionate spouse walks up and down therein, for her own exercise and for his, sowing the seeds of good advice, pruning, tying up, hoeing and raking, with the utmost diligence.

But he is not the subject of compassion. Hath he not reprisals? Are there not on his part times and seasons? Doth he not set the woman's sins in order before her face? Sometimes it is a regular discourse, sometimes impetuous outburst, sometimes quiet but sharp criticism, but always in the genuine spirit of criticism, that is, fault finding. But behold the royal quality in all its glory! A fidgety mother with romping, headlong, healthy children, that don't care a fly for nothing short of a general whipping! From the time of rising to the time of sleep, something is always the matter. The pockets, the sleeves, the ruffles, the hair, the shoes, the boisterous laugh, the rude shove, the loud step, the sly pinch, the spite, the roguery, the selfishness, the giggle, the suppressed laughter exploding like a bomb, or rather like the bursting of a water-pipe, the too quick and the too slow, the awkwardness, the clumsy grinding against polished furniture, the endless questions, the wantings to go somewhere, or to have somebody come here—oh, what a God send children are to people who have a genius for fault-finding—that is, for all mortal creatures! They are so many maternal safety-valves.

If now one considers the duty which neighbors owe to each other, the fact that every man is bishop over his neighbor's affairs; if we consider, further, what a friend owes to friendship—(oh, the blessedness of friendship, that gives one leave to deal faithfully with you! to open the north door of January on you, with the wholesome assurance, "Now you know that I am your friend!")—what a pungent dig a man is conscientiously impelled to give you when he has been admitted to the secrets of your life; if one considers all these things—and how can he help it if he lives in mortal society?—he will be duly impressed with the wonderful provision which Providence (with some human aid) has provided for the exercise of this innate, universal, and invisible tendency to fault finding.

But are there no exceptions? I am sorry to say there are a few. There are persons who weakly judge that good-nature is more refining than fault-finding. Spiritless creatures there are who prefer to wait, on provocation, rather than to let fly the suitable answer which folly deserves. I have known persons so lost to self that they really took other people's parts; they even let boys and girls romp around them all day without a single snarl.

We have seen weak and sunshiny natures so nearly demented as to excuse and palliate their neighbor's imperfections. They do seem to promote for the present a degree of happiness. But what becomes of the art, the duty, the felicity of fault-finding?—N. Y. Ledger.

Down by the break'ng waves we stood,
Upon the rocky shore;
The brave waves whispered courage,
And did with friendly roar
The faltering words that told the tale
I dared not tell before.

I asked if with the precious gift,
Her love, my life she'd bless?
Was it her voice, or some fair wave—
For, sooth, I scarce may guess—
Some gentle wave or her sweet voice,
That lisped so sweetly "Yes."

And then, in happy silence, too,
I clasped her fair wee hand:
And long we stood there, carelessly,
While o'er the darkening land
The sun set, and the fishing boats
Were sailing from the strand.

It seems not many days ago—
Like yesterday—no more
Since thus we stood, my love and I,
Upon the rocky shore!
But I was four-and-twenty then,
And now I'm forty-four.

The lily hand is thinner now,
And in her sunny hair
I see some silvery lines, and on
Her brow some lines of care;
But, wrinkled brow, or silver locks,
She's not one whit less fair.

The fishing boats a score of years
Go sailing from the strand,
The crimson sun a score of years
Sets o'er the darkening land;
And here to-night upon the cliff
We are standing hand in hand.

"My darling, there's our eldest girl,
Down on the rocks below;
What's Stanley doing by her side?"
My wife says, "You should know;
He's telling her what you told me
A score of years ago."

THE city of St. Paul, on Wednesday last, celebrated the entry of the first Eastern train into the city across the Mississippi by firing off cannon and fireworks in the evening.

A BERLIN medical journal mentions the death of two men from trichinosis, after eating raw pork. The butcher who sold the meat was sentenced to four months imprisonment.

THE Masons of Cincinnati have organized a mutual benefit association, in principle the same as one which has been in successful operation among the Odd Fellows for some time.

MR. HENRY HILKER, river reporter for German newspapers in Cincinnati, was quite astonished a few mornings since upon reading an account of his drowning in the Ohio by falling from a ferry boat.

MINNESOTA, renowned as a wheat growing State, it seems has been outdone by Montana territory this season, where the statistics show a large yield of first class wheat, averaging not less than thirty-three and perhaps thirty-five bushels to the acre.

Two Indian skeletons were dug up the other day, at Marblehead, Mass., which, it was inferred, must have been buried ages ago, as they were underneath heaps of scollop shells, which species of bivalves became extinct in our country before Columbus' day.

CLOTHING has suddenly become expensive in Boston. The tailoresses have followed the example of the tailors in striking for more pay, and the ladies of the city have appointed a committee to help them in this effort. Hereafter, if the strike should succeed, the pay for making a pair of trousers will be $2.

ANDREW LAWSON, of St. Cloud, Minn., was singled out of a party of ten in one room as the recipient of a thunderbolt, on Thursday evening last. The flesh was stripped from an arm and foot, and Mr. L. remained senseless for some time, but finally recovered. It was only during convalescence that he felt pain.

A CITIZEN of Cincinnati, who had previously borne an excellent reputation, became intoxicated recently, and while in that condition insulted a party of ladies in the street. He was arrested, left a deposit for his appearance before the police court, and not long after was surprised in an attempt at suicide.

THE Nevada Gazette says that a party which recently went to the upper waters of the Yuba on a fishing excursion, not finding the sport with hook and line sufficiently exciting, exploded a small charge of giant powder in the water. The effect was astonishing—all the fish in the immediate vicinity, large and small, being instantly killed.

A LIBEL SUIT against the Baltimore American is being tried in the Superior Court of that city. It grows out of the publication of a statement relative to attacks made upon passengers in the cars passing through from Washington, in October last, immediately preceding the Pennsylvania election. Damages to the amount of $10,000 are claimed.

ONE or two incidents of the recent Maine election are worth noting. Brewer, the native place of Governor Chamberlain, threw less than 50 Democratic votes against nearly 400 for him. Lisbon threw 311 Republican votes and not one Democratic. The little town of Maxfield steadily votes 24 Republican year after year, and no opposition, while Benedict, Aroostook county, returns no Republican vote.

SEVERAL of the Yale freshmen were so seriously injured in their initiation into the Delta Kappa secret society, at the meeting last week, that they had to be carried home in carriages, and one, who was tossed in a blanket, broke both bones of his forearm, about three inches below the elbow. Hazing, bad as it is, is merciful treatment compared with the barbarity of freshmen-initiation.

THERE is an old couple living at Tiverton, Rhode Island, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, aged each 93 years, who were married at the age of eighteen, and consequently have lived in the bonds of matrimony for the long period of seventy five years. Mrs. Smith has three sisters still living, quite aged, one of whom is within two years of being a centenarian, being ninety-eight years old. She has another eighty-four, and one eighty years.

A SPECIAL train, made up exclusively of Pullman's drawing-room and sleeping cars, with hotel car attached, will commence to run through from Omaha to San Francisco without change, on Monday the 18th inst. The time occupied on the journey will be three days and a half; fare by the special train, $150, or $30 more than by the ordinary trains. There will be no delay by stopping for meals, which will be cooked in the commissary car, and served in the drawing-room cars. The specials trains will run only once a week, starting from each end of the track every Monday.

AT Milwaukee, the other day, a little fellow expressed a wish to be weighed to a rag-peddler who was at his mother's house. To humor his whim, they tied a strip of the material about his waist, to form a fastening for the hook of the spring balance. While lifting him the girth gave way, and the hook penetrated the boy's jaw. The peddler, horrified at the result, hurried away, leaving his stock and balance, the latter immovably fixed in the child's jaw. A physician was immediately summoned, who, after much difficulty, succeeded in removing it. The child at last accounts was lying in a critical condition.

A FARMER near Muscatine, Iowa, noticing the gradual disappearance of his fences, cast about to find the thief. The other day in passing over a farm adjoining his own, he discovered the lost boards nailed on a neighbor's fence. He recognized them from the fact that some of them had been torn rudely off and pieces left remaining. He took the pieces from his fence, and had no difficulty in finding the boards to which they belonged, and in this way established the guilt of his neighbor. He apprised the thief of the discovery, and threatened immediate prosecution in case the stolen property was not replaced, which was done in short order.

THE Lithofracteum is the name given a new explosive material, ingredients of which are not divulged. The advantages claimed are greater explosive power than nitro-glycerine, small production of smoke and freedom from explosion during transport. It has already been successfully used in mining operations, and experiments at Cologne show its perfect applicability to military purposes. The Prussian officers appointed to superintend the experiments, expressed the opinion that the use of the "lithofracteur" would in any future war secure as great superiority to the Prussian army, as the "zundnadelgewehr," or needle-gun, effected in the late contest with Austria.

THE disappearance of the star Tau Coronæ has excited considerable discussion on the point whether this heavenly body has been consumed by fire, or, by increasing its distance from the earth has only vanished from the sight of terrestrial observers. On the latter point, it is stated that recent calculations show the sun and star Sirius are receding from each other at the rate of 29. 4 miles per second, and it is asserted that this famous star will gradually become dimmer and dimmer, and will eventually entirely vanish from human sight, unless the power in the lenses of telescopes in time will have been so greatly increased that astronomers will be able to investigate more minutely into the now distant and invisible stellar systems.

BOLD and mysterious robberies seem to be the order of the day: The firm of Collins & Ullman, brokers in Chicago, were robbed of $118,000 in bonds and notes, on Saturday last. From the circumstances under which the robbery was perpetrated it seems the robber must have been concealed on the premises, and awaited a favorable opportunity to seize a tin box containing the valuables. The robbery was perpetrated in daylight, between twelve and one o'clock. The bank at Norwalk, Conn., was robbed one night last week of $150,000 in bonds, &c., the vault having been blown open with powder. A man living next door, and whose bed was twenty feet from the vault, heard the noise of the explosion, and upon looking out of the window saw the gas light burning as usual in the bank, also discovered glass scattered on the sidewalk, but supposing some boy had thrown a stone and broken the plate glass window, gave the matter no further attention.

St. Louis Woman's Suffrage Convention—Letter from Rev. Freeman Clark.

ST. LOUIS, October 2.—The members of the Woman's Suffrage Association of this city held a meeting this evening, to make final arrangements for the convention which will be held here next week. All the preparations were perfected, and the convention will not only be large, but promises to be a success in every particular. Several prominent ladies have already arrived, and others are on the way here.

A letter from Rev. James Freeman Clarke, of Boston, regretting his inability to attend the Convention, has been received and will be read to the Convention. It takes strong grounds in favor of the women's suffrage movement. the main points of which are as follows:

I am in favor of Woman's Suffrage, First—because I believe in universal suffrage as the most stable basis of Republican institutions. I do not contend for any abstract right of voting. Suffrage is a contrivance for the organization of opinion into law. The larger the amount of opinions which can be organized, the less remains an alien element in the State. As long as any large class of persons is formally excluded from its share in the Government, not being able to express itself regularly, it acts irregularly and injuriously. An educational qualification is not inconsist with universal suffrage, if it be imposed on all alike.

Second—Because the introduction of the feminine element into legislation and administration will do for the State what it has already done for society and manners in Christian countries. What this influence is may be seen by comparing Mohammedan countries with Christian States. The absence of woman brutalizes society—her presence civilizes it. Politics in christian countries are now as brutal as society is in Moslem countries. The introduction of the female influence will civilize our politics.

Third—Because, until woman has some power in the State, she will not attain to her true position, or right development elsewhere. She will not be paid for her labor as much as she ought to have, nor be allowed to diversify her labor, nor be equal before the law. Her person, her property, her children, are still, in most places, under the authority of others. She is excluded from the colleges, the law, the medical profession and the pulpit, by customs and prejudices connected with her political disfranchisement. As soon as woman receives political power she will find doors open for her culture, her industry and her talent.

He then characteeizes the objections to womon suffrage as superficial and unfounded, and classifies them as the sentimental, the scriptural, and the slaveholder's objection, and treats each in a clear, concise, but brief manner.

CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL
private diseases. Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.
A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.
It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.
The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.
The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays 10 A. M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET, (near Court House,) Pittsburgh, Pa

ALLEGHENY CATTLE MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, October 4, 1869.

CATTLE.

There was again a very full supply of Cattle on sale to-day, nearly 1,200 head, and with a demand confined almost entirely to supplying the local demand, the market was slow and somewhat sluggish, and, compared with last week, prices are lower, and especially was this the case in regard to common and medium stock of which the offerings largely consisted. Prime fat Cattle, it is true, brought pretty full prices, but then they did not sell as freely as last week, while the lower grades, as already intimated, were exceedingly dull and weak, and holders had to make concessions in order to effect sales. The former sold at 7¼@7½, with some few extra at 7¾; while the latter were disposed of at prices ranging from 4@6 cts, for inferior to medium, and there were some very good Cattle sold at 6. A drove of good Texas steers were retailed at an average of 5 cents.

Of the Cattle on sale, Chicago furnished 21 cars; Cincinnati, 2; Crestline, 2; Xenia, 1; State Line, 4; Fort Wayne, 2; Warsaw, 2; La Rue, 1; Mt. Victory, 2; Loudenville, 1; Indianapolis 1; total, 20 cars. In addition there was an unusually large number of Pennsylvania Cattle in market, and Butler Co. was very largely represented, though as is generally the case, the stock from this county was not very good. There were some very good cattle on sale to-day from Green and Washington counties.

Adam Eckert sold 13 head Butler Co. stock, at $37 per head.

Stakely Bro. sold 2 bulls, averaging about 995, at 3½.

James Shaw sold 8 head Lawrence Co. stock, at 5¼.

P. Sheltemantle sold 25 head Butler Co. stock.

J. A. Shannon sold 15 head Butler Co. heifers and steers, averaging about 900, at an average price of 4¾.

J. C. McNeese 30 head Butler Co. bulls, steers and heifers.

Garwin & Co. 11 head Butler Co. stock, at 4@5½.

M. Flinner 18 head Butler Co. steers and heifers, at 3½@4¾.

Smith & Blue sold 30 head Ohio steers, at 5@6¼.

Jacob Rothchilds 18 head Ohio stock, from Belmont Co., at 5½@5¾.

Wilson & Hart sold 24 head Washington Co. heifers and steers, at 4½@5¾.

Nicholas Carr sold 33 head from Ohio, mixed stock, at 4½@6¾.

Greenwald & Kahn 60 head Ohio and Penna. steers and heifers at 4@7¾.

Jas. Hanlin 13 head Washington Co. steers and heifers, at 5@7 cts.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

The supply although fully equal to the demand, was considerably below that of last week, 2,550 against about 3,400. The market, however, was not much better, excepting for prime fat sheep, of which there were but few in market, the great proportion of the offerings consisting mainly of medium and common grades. It is said that all the best sheep are being bought up and shipped east, and that growers and farmers generally, who have good sheep, know how to ask enough for them. As will be seen, prime fat sheep sold at 4½@5 cts. per pound. Lambs sold from $1,50 to $4 per head.

RIVER NEWS.

The river was about stationary last evening, with four feet six inches in the channel. Weather cloudy and cool, with an occasional sprinkling of rain—mercury at 4 P. M., 69.

There has been no arrivals since the date of our last report, excepting the Julia from Zanesville.

Lock No. 2, on the Monongahela, was opened up for busines again yesterday, and the packets have resumed their regular trips. Considerable coal will now be locked through, so to be in readiness for the next rise.

The hull for Capt. Dozier's new stern-wheel boat has arrived from Brownsville. The cabin and engines will be put on her and she will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

The hull for Capt. Dan Moore's new boat arrived from Latta's Yard yesterday, where it was built—it would have been here some time time since had it not been for Lock No. 2 being out of order. The dimensions are: 215 feet length of keel, 37 feet beam; and 5½ feet hold. This boat, as is generally known, has been named J. N. McCullough, after the well-known railroad man, and, when completed, will be placed in the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati packet trade. Capt. Andrew Ackley, who is one of the principal owners, has had and will continue to have charge of her while in process of construction.

The Sallie is expected in to night or to-morrow morning, and, as will be seen by card, will depart for Cincinnati again on Thursday.

—A Nashville dispatch says: The attorneys in the case of C. M. Hays, of Nashville, against T. P. Sherlock and others, representing the U. S. Mail Line, in the suit for damages of the former for injuries and losses sustained by the Ohio river 'disaster of last December, have been engaged for two days past in taking depositions. The testimony for the plaintiff is very strong.

—A letter from the Captain of the Mountain steamer Peninah, dated at Fort Randall, Sept. 21, says: You have probably heard ere this of the misfortune to the Ida Rees by the breaking of her shaft at Fort Thompson, on the 8th of September. I was sent back to Sioux City after a boat to take the trip of the Rees, and the Peninah was given me, we are now under way for Fort Thompson to take on board the freight of the Rees and procede to Fort Buford, at least to Fort Peck, if she can possibly reach there. The Rees has temporarily repaired the shaft and will proceed to your city for a new one. The condition of the river is terrible—lower than ever before knewn by the oldest inhabitant, either white or red. There is but twenty-seven inches in many places, and not over thirty inches on half of the "crossings" and badly cut up. The Silver Lake No. 4 left Sioux City three days ahead of us for the upper forts, drawing thirty inches, and she had to divide her trip at Jim River, and then spent part of a day drawing over after lighting up twenty-six inches. We left the following boats at Soux City: Deer Lodge, North Alabama, Fanny Barker and Miner. The Andrew Ackley is due down, and will return as high as Grand River, which, with this trip, will close up the season's campaign, and the Upper Missouri.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp, 56¾f.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 128⅞.

UNDER GOV. GEARY'S administration, of less than three years, the public debt has been reduced by the sum of $4,209,387.14; and the Democrats are so displeased they desire to thrust him out. A decided majority of the people, however, think that he who has done so well, may as well "keep his hand in."

DEMOCRATIC newspapers insist that Mr. PACKER is known all through the Lehigh Valley as "the workingmen's friend." Will they explain how it happened that he came to be regarded in that region, by the working people, as the very Jonah of evil, and was cast by them into the canal for want of a convenient sea?

THE Reading Eagle affirms that Mr. Packer "worked for his money." If he would only impart to the men who work for him the art of making one million of dollars a year by "hard knocks," instead of paying them two dollars a day, he would become their benefactor. That, indeed, is a trick multitudes would like to learn.

WHEN Mr. Packer was in Congress he gave very little attention to public business. During one session, which extended through two hundred and thirty-five working days, he was in his seat only fifty-four days. But he drew pay just as if he had been in attendance and at work all the time. If any one of his numerous workmen had been equally negligent, he would not only have his pay reduced proportionately, but have been dismissed. Who knows that Mr. Packer is more ready now to perform any public duties he may assume than he was then?

A FEW days ago the GAZETTE refused to publish a communication signed "REFORMER," because it contained an unjustifiable assault upon the Republican party. The document was then offered to the Commercial, and by it declined. However, the conductors of that journal thought the matter over, concluded the stab at the party was too good to be lost, sent for the manuscript, and printed it yesterday morning, headed "advertisement," to convey the impression that it was paid for, and hence the proprietors should not be held responsible. The whole proceeding is characteristic.

SAM GALLOWAY.

It is not necessary to be a Buckeye to know all about the qualifications as a political speaker, which familiarly belong to this gentlemen, so well known, both in and out of Ohio, by the above familiar name. Hon. SAMUEL GALLOWAY, of Columbus, is not only one of the most effective political orators whom we have ever heard, but he has been so esteemed by the public confession, for more than a quarter of a century. Ohio Republicanism has not a purer, an abler, a more eloquent or a more widely honored representative. That State has been prolific of citizens who were at once effective orators, astute politicians, and upright, honorable gentlemen. Our readers may judge of Mr. Galloway's rank in this class, when we state that he was, throughout the Administration of Mr. LINCOLN, the confidential friend and counsellor of that great President.

He speaks to our people at the City Hall to-morrow night, when we predict he will take his audience by storm. We beg any reader who hears him and is not gratified and instructed thereby, to come and tell us so.

AND NOW, TO WORK!

Only seven days remain for work during the present canvass. We urge upon every Republican the necessity of doing within this short space all he can for the success of the candidates. Do not rely upon the prevalent expectation of a signal triumph. The omens are, indeed, full of encouragement; but this fact should only stimulate to fresh exertions. If it shall be accepted as a reason for supineness, the consequences may prove disastrous. But if it shall be received as an incentive to additional labor, there can be no difficulty in deciding beforehand that GEARY and WILLIAMS will be elected, and Republican majorities in both branches of the Legislature.

That there are local disaffections, here and there, we do not attempt to conceal. Personal animosities or ambitions will make their presence felt except when a profound excitement pervades the whole country. But the local feuds do not give indications of damage to the larger interests. Here and there a minor candidate may suffer; but on the whole, the dissensions, such as they are, will rather tend to strengthen the general interests than to weaken. This will be seen after the votes have been counted, notwithstanding all averments of the Democratic organs to the contrary.

We make these suggestions only to induce all our friends to omit no proper efforts between now and next Tuesday to secure a new lease of Republican ascendency in this commonwealth. It is of high moment that the verdict of the people be rendered in terms so unqualified and mandatory as to leave no doubt as to the meaning.

MONARCHIC DEMOCRACY.

At the opening of the winter session of the Midland Institute, in Birmingham, England, on the 29th of last month, Mr. CHARES DICKENS, the eminent novelist, made a profession of political faith so remarkable that it was sent across the Atlantic by telegraph. It was in these words:

"My faith in the people governing is infinitesimal, while my faith in the people governed is illimitable."

What is pecular in this is not the matter, but the form. It is the old doctrine of monarchism, put into a condensed and impressive phraseology. It decides against the possibility of maintaining an upright and dignified government in which the masses of the population are potential, and in favor of government under which the masses are powerless. European populations are familiar with this doctrine, having heard it through all the centuries, and having had it practically enforced to their most serious detriment by emperors, kings and sultans. The repetition of it now by the distinguished author, is owing to the development of republican aspirations and tendencies among the people of Great Britain. It is the protest of a conspicuous individual against the liberalism that has GLADSTONE, MILL and BRIGHT for exponents.

But this monarchical sentiment finds echo and applause on this side of the Atlantic—not timid or covert endorsement, but sonorous and emphatic approval. Is the question asked, from what quarter? We reply, from the precise quarter from which all men of experience and reflection in this country would have expected it—from the Philadelphia Age, the most able and influential organ of what is called by courtesy the Democratic party in this Commonwealth. These are its words:

"We most cheerfully recognize the doctrine of the great English writer AS SOUND AND TRUE."

This only confirms what we said some days ago, that the real Democratic leaders of this State are by nature and habit intensely aristocratic, professing liberal opinions only to delude their followers, and ready whenever a favorable moment shall come to overthrow popular institutions, and set up others under which the people shall not do the "governing," but shall be "governed" according to the most stringent European model.

Nothing is more certain than that wherever a monarchy exists over an intelligent people there also exists, with greater or less definiteness, a conspiracy for its subversion. This conspiracy will be active and overt just in proportion as surrounding circumstances of the national life shall be propitious or adverse thereto, and as the personal characteristics of the popular leaders shall determine. So, too, wherever government is bottomed on the will of the people, a conspiracy exists for its overthrow. The ambition of able men becomes inflamed. At first they long to do the "governing," and at last they are eager to incur all hazards to secure that privilege.

Thus it was that the late rebellion had its origin. Other pretexts were, indeed, put forward, to inflame popular passions; but they were all unreal, and known to be so by those who resorted to them. The actual leaders of the revolt, like the Age, held the same opinion which Mr. Dickens says he holds, and meant to embody it in the frame of a government that should extend over the North American Continent. The conspirators were not all South. The Democratic leaders in Pennsylvania sympathized with the rebellion because they shared in the controlling sentiments and opinions of its chiefs; because they were, as we have said, intensely aristocratic, and altogether averse to any frame of government in which the people are factors.

The conspiracy against popular government in this country is not extinguished, but only baffled. It is not likely to flame out again during the life-time of the present generation; but in the progress of events it will come to a head again. The bold declaration of the Age is evidence of this, and the placidity with which that declaration is received by the Democratic masses is evidence of the extent to which they have been corrupted.

NEW YORK COMPANIES IN PENNSYLVANIA.

In the Anthracite Counties of this State exist a number of transportation and mining organizations, known as "New York Companies." This designation distinguishes them accurately from the other organizations, which are distinctively Pennsylvanian.

Some of the New York Companies are conducted mainly under laws enacted by the Legislature of that State, foothold here having been obtained by assignments of local charters, or by such Legislative recognitions of their existence within our borders as legally domesticates their foreign franchises. Others of them are conducted under charters granted by our Legislature. Most of these charters were authorized many years ago, when comparatively little was understood as to ultimate cost of canal or railway transportation, or as to the amount of coal that would be demanded for consumption. Hence, these charters contain many concessions that would now be deemed altogether inadmissible, because at variance with the welfare of the Commonwealth.

Some of these corporations have lines of communication running directly from Pennsylvania into New York, while the lines of others, after leaving Pennsylvania, enter New Jersey, whose territory they traverse to tide-water at or near the city of New York. Probably all of these companies have more or less stockholders in this State. Most of them are constrained by their charters to have a certain proportion of Pennsylvanians in their Boards of Directors, and even to hold their elections here; but the capital of all of them is mainly supplied from New York, and the virtual direction of them is there.

These companies have shorter lines between the coal fields and New York than any of the strictly Pennsylvania organizations, which constitutes an important advantage. But, what is of chief moment in the present connection, is that their profits are derived not so much from the mining and transportation of coal as from merchandizing therein. At least, they have a way of so managing affairs as to make this appear to be the case in the returns they make to the Auditor General, and which become the foundation of taxation. This merchandizing in coal is necessarily conducted in New York, the profits obtained are mostly retained there, and hence the difficulty of subjecting these companies to a fair share of assessments here.

How to make these companies pay their just proportion of the expenses of the State has been a problem of serious difficulty; and it is not yet entirely solved. Laws have been framed specially to meet this case, and now considerable revenue is realized, relieving our own citizens to that extent, without injustice to the parties that are forced to pay.

The railway company of which Mr. Asa Packer is President is one of these New York organizations. Its interests are not only in opposition to those of the strictly Pennsylvania companies, but also to the general interests of the commonwealth. In this special regard, what is for the interest of Mr. Packer's company is for the welfare of all the New York corporations with which it is identified. These organizations have steadily resisted the imposition of taxes upon them, making common cause whenever attempts have been made to compel them to contribute their due share to the public burdens, and contesting every levy up to the court of last resort.

If the Republicans had nominated Mr. J. Edgar Thomson or Mr. Thomas A. Scott, of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, for Governor, there would have been a general revolt. The feeling would have been spontaneous and universal, that however estimable these gentlemen might be as citizens, or however proper their elevation to many other posts, that the gubernatorial chair was not compatible with their connection with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Mr. Packer's position is in no essential particular different from this. In some respects it is even worse. He is at the head of a powerful corporation, identified fully with New York, and consequently in affiliation with all the other New York Companies. He is about the last man in the State, considering his business relations, who ought to be elected Governor. The more the voters reflect upon this point, the greater will its significance and weight appear to them; and they will reject the insidious proposition to place the affairs of the Commonwealth in the hands of an individual who, whatever may be his private virtues, is not proof against the blinding influences of self-interest, simply because he partakes of the infirmities common to all human beings.

THE DEMOCRATIC REVOLT.

A Rebellion in the Camp.

AN EDITOR TURNS STATE'S EVIDENCE.

A Faction of Debauched Thieves.

HOW PACKER IS PLUNDERED.

Impending Ruin of the Party.

A SCATHING DENUNCIATION.

The Altoona Vindicator, the able and influential organ of the Blair county Democracy, in its issue for last Saturday, October 2nd, prints in its most conspicuous style, an indignant exposure of the "miserable clique that controls Mr. Packer and his State Committee." The editor supported Packer in the Convention, but is now "free to say that he made a mistake." He draws an humiliating picture of the candidate's lack of backbone, and of his weak subserviency to the "debauched" faction which "runs" him, and warns the Democracy of the disasters to which these "trading politicians," now rioting in "continuous debaucheries" at his expense, are about to bring upon the party.

These remarkable statements of a Democratic journalist should be read by every citizen of Pennsylvania this week.

We quote:

It is a fact which we desire to impress upon our readers, that a faction has taken control of the Democratic organization and the present campaign, who are only fit to support the Republican thieves now depleting the Treasury of Pennsylvania. Some of them are corrupt and designing, and seek Democratic success only as a stepping stone to plunder and the filling of their own pockets, at the expense of the honest, hard working tax-payers of the Commonwealth. They have attained control of the party, by the meanest of intrigues.

The Convention succeeded in getting into the field a candidate for Governor, who, honest in his impulses, seems to be controlled by a corrupt clique who are known to be trading politicians of a very low degree.

We ourselves had a voice in the Convention which placed Mr. Packer in nomination and contributed in no mean degree to that result, believing at that time, that our present nominee was the most available as well as the strongest in the State. But from our knowledge and observation of the workings of the miserable clique that controls Mr. Packer and the Committee, we are free to say, we believe we made a mistake in the Convention.

Mr. Packer with his immense wealth, looks on with perfect amazement, while some of the men who flatter and swarm around him are filching away his substance, to enrich themselves and defray the expenses of their continuous debaucheries. Let Mr. P. see to it!

Mr. Packer conceives that in answering the demand of these leeches, he is contributing to the cause of the Democratic party, and to his own personal advancement. Unles some bold man tears the bandage from his eyes, and compels the change of his confidential advisers, the 12th of October will tell a tale of disaster and ruin to the Democracy. Of the $75,000 dollars contributed, scarcely $10,000 is being applied to the ends for which the contribution was assigned—the balance is being drawn out; amongst whom?

We wish the Democracy of Pennsylvania to mark our prediction! Unless there is a change in the management at Philadelphia, the ticket is doomed to certain defeat. Some of the men are piloting the ship straight upon the rocks—Mr. Packer will be much the poorer, if the Democracy of Pennsylvania will have fought its last battle under its present name and organization.

THE DRIFT OF THE FINANCIAL CURRENT.

We quote some remarks from the money article of the New York Herald:

Some curious truths are deducible from the events of the past week. The greenback currency, which is so derided by one set of political theorists, was the salvation of the general trade of the country. Had the circulating medium been gold and silver the panic would have ended in a grand crash of all interests. Another fact is also evident—the country is growing to specie payments, and will reach that stage all the sooner if the currency is not meddled with, or, if amended at all, made uniform. We are becoming so vast a country that we shall soon need every dollar of paper now afloat. Greenbacks are more valuable to-day than they were a year ago. The best proof of the fact lies in the depreciation in gold to 129¾ when the gold conspiracy is no more. Our currency has appreciated as a purchasing vehicle far more than the premium on gold shows. Hence we find that the latter tends to decline when the great speculation of the Gold Room vanishes. Let anybody look in the latter place and see the tame and quiet which rule since the Clearing House has suspended, and brokers have to deliver the actual gold, instead of doing so by tickets at the Gold Bank. It was the vast speculation in gold which kept up the premium. It was not worth 140, 150 or 160. When it got among these figures gold began to come this way from Europe. Now that obstacles to speculation are occasioned by the absence of a clearing house, and while speculation is limited to an amount not exceeding two or three times the sum of gold obtainable throughout the city, the limit in this instance being similar to the limit in speculation upon any railway stock, the first tendency is to a decline, for the premium will, like water, surely find the level which the relations of credit and commerce give it.

To which it may be answered that but for the existence of large masses of depreciated paper currency, no such speculation in gold as has been experienced, could possibly have occurred. From the nature of the case, speculations of this general character will be repeated, with greater or less strength, according to circumstances, so long as the paper currency in use shall be considerably below par. Whenever gold and paper money shall become equal, because of the convertibility of the paper into coin at the pleasure of he holder, a speculation of the magnitude of that recently brought to a head in New York would be disastrous to all mercantile interests; but then such a speculation would be impossible.

THE MISSIONARY BOARD.

The American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions will commence its annual session to-day, sitting at the Third Presbyterian Church. If a full meeting, that is, up to the average of late years, it is believed that nearly a thousand members will be present, nearly all them strangers to the city. Very careful arrangements have been made, by the local committee, for the accommodation of this large number of visitors, very many of whom will enjoy the hospitality of our citizens, in private houses as well as at the hotels. We hear of one citizen who receives twenty at his own house and assumes the expenses of one hundred more to be quartered at the Monongahela House. The sessions are to continue for three days, and will be closely occupied in the transaction of the large regular business. As usual, new questions of deep interest to the religious world, are also likely to come under consideration. The GAZETTE will have an ample report of all the proceedings.

MINOR TOPICS.

Now that the women have struggled so long for their rights and at length seem about to accomplish something, it is time for the reformers to find some new and more radical question. Why not take up children's rights? We have made numerous laws for these minature men and women which are constantly broken and disregarded. Flagrant breaches of some of these laws may constantly be noticed on our streets. For instance on the day of the procession of the pupils of the Public Schools, when the wind was searching, and the temperature by no means mild, little girls might have been seen with nothing but a thin white covering over their necks and arms which were quite blue with cold. This sort of reckless absurdity is generally attributed to fashion, but just now the frickle dame does not sanction any such exposure on the street. Then again on Sunday we noticed a half dozen fathers lifting their young children over gutters by one arm, and one stern parent held a two years old up by one little limb, while he administered a castigation long and loud. Such things being common is it any wonder that consumption demands so many graves, and distorted figures meet our eyes at every street corner? Surely, if the leaders of reform are looking about for some new cause to advocate, there is no more urgent or hopeless one now offered than this of the children.

BOSTON has won the enviable reputation of being the hub of the literary and musical wheel of the great American universe. The language in which Bostonians express their satisfaction at this is said to be slightly Fourth-of-July-ish, but if all who boast had so much foundation for the fabric they build up, forgiveness for the boasting would be easy. There are few cities in this country where a musical festival of the magnitude of the recent Peace Jubilee would be possible; but not content with the glory then achieved, a programme has been made out for the coming winter, providing intellectual entertainment for ten successive Monday evenings. There are to be four debates between such men as William R. Alger, Horace Greeley, Geo. B. Loring, etc. Four lectures will be delivered by Wendell Phillips and three other distinguished gentlemen. Readings will be given by Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Ames. Solos will be sung by nine prominent singers, and a grand instrumental and vocal concert will be given by Mr. Tourgee. Besides all this, the entertainments, which are to take place in Music Hall, will be interspersed with music on the great organ by four of the leading organists of Boston. We confess frankly that we believe that there is not another American city where such a programme would have been conceived, and probably no other where, being conceived, success would be so certain.

SOONER or later the universal thirst for variety will bring us to using as articles of food, almost everything which now graces the tables of the green buttoned mandarins, or tickles the palates of the belles of Tetuan and Tahiti. We have prejudices now, but that is not saying that we always must have them, while it is very easy to imagine a time when the limited list of beef and mutton, varied occasionally by mutton and beef, may pall upon a hereditarily satiated palate. In Paris we already see signs of this great gastronomic revolution; horses are pronounced good, rats are said to be gamey and toothsome, cats, dogs, snails, frogs and a few other minor articles are said to be dainty additions to any bill of fare, and all these by actual civilized experience. That the only objection to most of these as articles of food is the merest prejudice is evinced by the numerous instances where persons have been delighted with something very novel and delicate until they discovered it to be frog or hare, whereupon all the luxury of the viand has often vanished. There is no enemy so hard to fight, so impregnably armed or so unreasonably illogical as Prejudice, and therefore this revolt against his authority, now begun in Paris, will require a long time and brave leaders before it makes much headway, but the time may yet come when it will no longer be considered proper and decent to throw away the greater part of the natural food provided for us which custom now calls common and unclean.

WE HEAR of quite a number of fountains among the new or soon to be expected adornments of our cities. In Allegheny there is the tall jet in the Park lake, the drinking fountain on the North Common, and the fine fountain at the northwestern corner of the Park. We are also soon to have the Humboldt and Temperance fountains. Probably no other style of adornment could afford so much pleasure to the eye and ear, for it would be hard to find anything more lovely than the sparkling, splashing waters, glittering in the light of the sun or moon, and rippling and murmuring back into the basins. As temperance agents, too, they are good things; if cups are provided it will be easier for a man, who is walking in the grounds, to get a drink of good water than a horn of bad whisky. Nor should the lower animals be forgotten. There is, we believe, but one public watering place for horses in our streets. In Philadelphia and other Eastern cities fountains have been built in various parts, convenient for the use of men, horses and dogs.

WE are glad to see that the beautiful smaller objects of natural ornament are being appreciated. It is only a few years since the handsome woods of our native forests began to be used for household furniture. It is not a long time since rustic brackets and picture frames were scarcely to be found in any of our dwellings, and now we learn that our beautiful autumn leaves are beginning to find favor in the eyes of the people. Only a few days ago we read of the sensation created in a Parisian saloon by a young American girl, whose head-dress and frock-trimmings were formed of the frost-tinted leaves of the forests of her native land. And we hear of a church-festival, which is soon to be held in this city, where the decorations are to be composed of the same material. The novelty will be beautiful and successful, adding a charm which could not be found in the ordinary tasteless wreaths and festoons of colored paper, which represent a larger outlay of money.

A VIENNA paper says: "Bismarck's disease, as the French papers said some time ago, is simply delirium tremens. He can not hold a pen in the morning, and he has to take strong stimulants in order to overcome his nervousness. He can never make a speech in Parliament without previously taking strong doses of Cognac brandy."

THOU BRINGEST ME LIFE—LUNG-WORT.

One of the truest and most suggestive ideas can be obtained from the caption at the head of this article; for of all diseases which impair human health and shorten human life, none are more prevalent than those which affect the lungs and pulmonary tissues. Whether we regard lung diseases in the light of a merely slight cough, which is but the fore-runner of a more serious malady, or as a deep lesion corroding and dissolving the pulmonary structure, it is always pregnant with evil and foreboding of disaster. In no class of maladies should the physician or the friends and family of the patient be more seriously forewarned than in those of the lungs, for it is in them that early and effeient treatment is most desirable, and it is then that danger can be warded off and a cure effected. In DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE you have a medicine of the greatest value in all these conditions. An alterative, a tonic, a nutrient and resolvent, succoring nature and sustaining the recuperative powers of the system. Its beautiful workings, in harmony with the regular functions, can be readily observed by the use of one or two bottles: it will soon break up the chain of morbid sympathies that disturb the harmonious workings of the animal economy. The harrassing cough, the painful respiration, the sputum streaked with blood, will soon give place to the normal and proper workings of health and vigor.

An aggregated experience of over thirty years has enabled Dr. Keyser, in the compounding of his LUNG CURE, to give new hope to the consumptive invalid and at the same time speedy relief in those now prevalent, catarrhal and throat affections, so distressing in their effects and so almost certainly fatal in their tendencies, unless cured by some appropriate remedy. DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE is so thorough and efficient, that any one who has ever used it, will never be without it in the house. It will often cure when everything else fails, and in simple cases will cure oftentimes in a few days.

The attention of patients, as well as medical men, is respectfully invited to this new and valuable addition to the pharmacy of the country.

DR. KEYSER may be consulted every day until 1 o'clock P. M. at his Great Medicine Store, 167 Liberty street, and from 4 to 6 and 7 to 9 at night.

NOW IS THE TIME

To repair the inroads made upon the physical strength by the heated term which has closed with September. The vitality that has been oozing through the pores in the form of perspiration, for the last three months, requires to be replaced, as a preparative to the cold season which makes such disastrous havoc with relaxed and untoned sytems. The reverse of vigor with which the stoutest man commences the Summer campaign is drained out of him at its close, and unless by some means he acquires a new stock of vital energy wherewith to encounter the shock of a colder season, he may droop and wither like the falling leaves whose life-juices are exhausted. If it is thus with the strong, how much more perilous is the condition of the weak and ailing. Their reason must suggest to them, more forcibly than these printed words, the necessity for invigoration, and the world have decided, after an experience of nearly a quarter of a century, that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS embrace such restorative properties as are not possessed by any other tonic and alterative preparation in existence. The importance of resorting to that great RENOVATOR AND REGULATOR OF THE HUMAN MACHINE, at this critical season is as obvious as the light of day. Let all who desire to escape an attack of chills and fever, bilious remittent fever, dysentery, diarrhœa, dyspepsia, rheumatism, hypochondria, or any other of the diseases of which the Fall season is the prolific parent, have recourse promptly to this celebrated preventive and restorative.

Safety Fire Jacket, Car Heater and MODERATOR.

For Smoke and Hot Air Flues, dispensing with the use of stoves and fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached. Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket, which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended.

It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c. Wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired, I will send on application right to manufacture or use the above invention. Also Territorial rights to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges either by State or county.

Money easy at 6@7 per cent. on call. The ease is said to be caused by purchases from Boston of three millions' worth of bonds for currency. Discounts nominal.

The session of the Directors of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern resulted in nothing definite. It is believed that Lockwood's indebtedness to the road will not exceed half a million.

The City of Brooklyn arrived to-day and brought $1,170,000 in specie.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, October 4, 1869.

There is really but very little that is new or important to be said about the markets in a general way. The demand for almost everything is confined entirely to supplying immediate wants, while in regard to values there are no essential changes, excepting that the tendency generally is downward.

ASHES—Steady but unchanged—4@4¼ for Soda, and 9 for Pearls.

APPLES—Demand rather better but prices remain unchanged, $1@3 per bbl, for common to choice.

BUTTER—Prime to choice Roll is in steady demand with sales at 33@35.

CRANBERRIES—Sales of prime eastern cultivated at $11,50@12,00 per bbl.

CARBON OIL—Is in fair demand but prices are lower; we now quote at 27½@28, for round lots, and 29@29½ in a jobbing way.

CHEESE—Sales Hamburg at 15; Factory at 16; and Goshen at 17@18.

EGGS—Unchanged—21@22.

FEATHERS—Dull; quoted at 80@85 cents to the trade, and the usual advance for small lots in store.

FLOUR—The market is very quiet, and while prices are unchanged, the tendency is downward. We continue to quote winter wheat flours at $6,50 to $7 per bbl.

GRAIN—Notwithstanding the offering of Wheat are light, prices are weak and drooping—one of our most prominent mills refused to pay over $1,25 for Red to-day. Oats dull and unchanged, 50 for car load lots, and 52@53 in store. Prime Yellow Corn is in demand and steady at $1,00. Rye cannot fairly be quoted above $1,10. Barley is firmer, with more inquiry and little or none offering; sales at $1,25@1,30.

HAY—May be fairly quoted from country wagons at $15@20 per tun, for common to strictly prime timothy.

HEMP—Very dull, $205 per ton.

HUSKS—Sales at 2¾@3 cts per pound.

LIME—Sales of Cleveland white lime at $1,75 per bbl.

LARD OIL—Extra No. 1, at $1,43@1,45, and No. 2, at $1,05@1,08.

ONIONS—Scarce and firmer, with sales at $3,50@3,75 per bbl.

PROVISIONS—Firmer and higher. Shoulders, 16¾@17; Ribbed Sides, 20; Short Ribbed, 20½; Clear do, 21; plain Sugar Cured Hams, 22½; Cavassed do, 24. Mess Pork, $33@33¼. Lard, 20¼ in tirces, 20½ in ½ bbls, and 21 in kegs. Dried Beef, 22.

PEANUTS—None in market.

POULTRY—Sales of chickens at 55 to 65 cents per pair.

POTATOES—Sales of Jersey sweets at $5,00 per bbl.

SEED—Flaxseed is in demand, and the mills are paying $2,20@2,25. Small sales of timothy seed at $4,25@4,50. No demand for clover seed.

SALT—Is firmer, with sales of car load lots at $1,85 per bbl.

STRAW—Sold in Allegheny market at $12 per ton.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, October, 4, 1869.

The stagnation which has prevailed in the oil business for some time past still continues, and what is worse still, there are no signs of improvement. The market cannot be termed weak, notwithstanding it is dull, yet while the demand either for present or future delivery is by no means urgent, the offerings are light, and there are but very few sellers at present prices. The trade appears to be in as bad a condition now as it was thirty days ago, and while there has not been much said about it recently, yet after all the great difficulty, the great and principal clog in the way, lies in the inequality in the prices of crude and refined, as the former is much higher relatively than the latter. And instead of Crude getting easier and lower, it seemed to be even stronger and higher than it was last week, while, on the other hand, refined, is scarcely holding its own.

There is considerable complaint among the trade in regard to the difficulty in getting cars on our western roads, and, besides, it is claimed that freights are too high to enable refiners here to compete fairly or successfully with Cleveland and other points. All our Pittsburgh refiners ask is to be treated with that consideration which the nature of their case requires, no more, and to this they are certainly entitled.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

FARM, GARDN AND HOUSEHOLD.

BRSEDS OF SHEEP.

The following statements are condensed from a report made by Mr. C. Howard, of Bedford, England, before the London Farmer's Club:

1. Leicesters cut a good fleece of wool, upon an average of 7 pounds each, and weight at 14 or 16 months old, from 9 to 10 stones each.

2. Cotswold average, when fit for butchering, at 14 or 15 months old, from 12 to 13 stones, and the weight of wool of the whole flock approaches to 8 pounds each.

3. Lincolns are not generally fit for the butcher at 14 or 15 months old, but they are kept until they are 22 or 28 months old, when their weight will be from 30 to 40 pounds per quarter; and they cut a second fleece, weighing from 10 to 14 pounds. The weight of wool of an entire flock, under fair average management, is about eight and a half pounds each.

4. Shropshires, as yearlings, cut from five and a half to seven pounds of wool, and if they have been well kept will weigh from 16 to 18 pounds per quarter, but they are not calculated to come out as yearlings, and are more frequently run on until the following Christmas or second year's clip, when they can be made twenty-five or thirty pounds per quarter.

5. Oxford Downs (of which Mr. Howard has been for many years a distinguished breeder) generally drop their lambs in the month of February, and at 13 to 14 months old they are ready for market, weighing upon an average ten stones each, with a fleece varying from 7 to 10 pounds. The ewes are good mothers, and produce a great proportion of twins.

SUGAR FOR HORSES.

A gentleman in New York is the possessor of a $1,000 horse, whose organ for approbativeness is so prominently active that he can be coaxed, but rarely driven against his will. When the considerate owner enters the stable the horse greets him with a hearty whinny, his only language, which is equal to a cheerful expression of delight. He is at once treated to a lump of loaf sugar, which the beautiful and sagacious creature knows is usually carried in a vest pocket, for he rubs his nose directly in there. On returning from a drive he expects two lumps. As two are invariably forthcoming when unharnessed, it is unmistakeable evidence to the horse that his conduct and efforts were satisfactory. The sight of a whip to that animal would be an insult and an outrage to his affectionate regard for one who looks carefully to his health, security and comfort. Such an instrument of barbarity does not belong to the good man's carriage, and may God speed the incoming day when they will only be seen in museums, to illustrate the conditions of countries that ultimately became Christianized.

GREASING WAGONS.

Few people fully appreciate the importance of thoroughly lubricating the axles, etc., of wagons and carriages, and fewer know what are the best materials and the best methods of applying them. A well-made wheel will endure common wear from ten to twenty-five years, if care is taken to use the right kind and proper amount of grease; but if this matter is not attended to, they will be used up in five or six years. Lard should never be used on a wagon, for it will penetrate the hub, and work its way out around the tenons of the spokes, and spoil the wheel. Tallow is the best lubricator for wooden axle-trees, and castor oil for iron. Just grease enough should be applied to the spindle of a wagon to give it a light coating; this is better than more, for the surplus put on will work out at the ends, and be forced by the shoulder-bands and nut-washers into the hub around the outside of the boxes. To oil an axle-tree, first wipe the spindle clean with a cloth wet with spirits of turpentine, and then apply a few drops of castor oil near the shoulders and end. One tea-spoonful is sufficient for the whole.

CROSS BRED FOWLS.

It is a well known fact that from a first cross between animals of a different breed, or between a pure bred animal on the one side and one of mixed blood on the other, we often obtain animals of much individual excellence, perhaps surpassing either parent in desirable qualities. It is also known that, ordinarily, such an animal is comparatively worthless for breeding purposes. We think these rules apply to fowls as fully as to larger animals, and that farmers might use them to advantage. A cross upon common fowls by the use of a cock of acknowledged merit, and of merit in the direction in which the common stock in deficient, often might produce fowls which either as egg producers or for the table, would equal any. And table fowls of perhaps unequaled merit can be produced by crossing two pure but entirely distinct breeds.—Western Rural,

HOW TO MANAGE CIDER.

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette gives the following recipe that he says has been thoroughly tried:

After the cider has fermented sufficiently to give it an agreeable taste, put it into a suitable boiler—a large wash boiler on a cooking stove will answer—and with a moderate fire bring the liquor to a boiling point. Put out the fire, and, when sufficiently cool, put it into bottles, cork it up well, and any time thereafter you will have a beautifully amber colored liquid, fit for gods or men to drink. I have never tried to store it in a cask, but see no good reason why it would not keep equally as well in wood as in glass. The heating kills the fermenting materials, and if carefully managed and not carried too far, gives no empyreumatic or other flavor.

PUTTING UP PICKLES.

Take one-half bushel cucumbers, more or less, and put them in a brine made in the proportion of two gallons of water to one and a half pounds of salt. Let them remain four days, then take them out and rinse well in clear water. Then have ready some good vinegar. Add the vinegar to the pickles; put a weight on to keep them under, and a cloth, which must be wrung out as often as twice a week, and rinsed in clear water. More cucumbers and vinegar can be added as occasion requires. Do not use a keg or barrel that has ever had any kind of meat salted in it.

CELLARS that are infested with insects should be provided with tables, on which to keep articles of food. These tables ought to be scoured frequently. Upon them green leaves of sage, or tansy, and sprigs of southernwood should be laid—replaced with fresh ones when dry. The legs of these tables should be set in pans of water, to be kept filled during the summer; this water and the leaves will be the destruction of red emmets, black ants and sometimes larger vermin. Keeping wood in the cellar often brings insects there.

COMFORTABLE quarters and good food are of more importance in the management of swine than is generally supposed. Salt and sulphur in small quantities prevents kidney worm, and corn soaked in very strong ley cures it. Hogs require sulphur, and in the winter season, carbon; it is a good plan, therefore, to supply them with soft coal in the winter time which contains both ingredients, and in the summer plenty of wild mustard will fill the bill.

THE Journal of Agriculture has a sensible article urging the importance of farmers keeping accounts with their farms. Many farmers are not able to tell whether a given crop is produced at a profit or loss.

THE Western Farmer objects to the practice of topping corn, believing it much better to cut the stalks near the ground, thus saving nearly the whole stalk for fodder.

TO KILL cockroaches, take equal parts of carbolic acid and powdered camphor; mix, and paint cracks and spots where they hide. The vermin come out to certain destruction.

THE farmer who obtains from the field not properly fertilized ten bushels of grain, when by manuring he might have obtained twenty, is selling his labor at half its value.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Rural New Yorker pronounces fried pork fat as good as anything he ever tried for sore teats on cows.

Reminiscence of the Bonapartes.

The visit of the Empress to Ajaccio has revived some curious details of the Bonaparte family, communicated by a Corsican. The house shown as that inhabited by Charles Bonaparte and his children is situated in one of the oldest parts of the town of Ajaccio. The original tenement, during the popular disturbances of 1794, was burnt to the ground. Napoleon had been engaged in the expedition against Sardinia, the failure of which may partly be attributed to Paoli, and partly to the effects of bad weather on the naval portion of the enterprise. Corsica broke out in open rebellion. Paoli placed himself at the head of the insurgents, and said to Napoleon, "You must choose between France and me." "Well," replied the young officer, "I remain on the side of France, and separate from you, who are allied to the English." Napoleon was sent to Bastia. Paoli a second time made overtures to the Bonaparte family, which were rejected, upon which he attempted to take them prisoners. From this fate they were rescued by the attachment of a few mountaineers. Lucien, in the middle of the night, was suddenly aroused by the gleam of torches in his bed room. He recognized among a group of mountaineers the friendly face of Costa, their leader, who exclaimed, "Quick, Luciano, awake Signora Letizia; Paoli's people will be upon you in an hour; but follow us; we are determined to rescue your family." Escorted by these mountaineers, the Bonapartes escaped to the hills, whence they saw Ajaccio, and of course their own house enveloped in flames. Paoli razed it to the ground, and proclaimed the banishment a perpetuite, of the Bonaparte family. After two days and nights of intense suffering, Madame Letizia and her children reached Marseilles where her son Napoleon met her. Joseph was appointed War Commissary, Lucien obtained employment in the Military Storekeeper's office, while Madame Letizia received rations distributed to emigrants. She and her daughters inhabited a miserable lodging in the Rue St. Laurent, and suffered extreme misery. The new house was built by the family on the plan of their former habitation, of which it is an exact reproduction. It has been purchased by Napolen III. The rooms are numerous, but small; and to the last hour of his life the first Emperor disliked large rooms, and always selected a small apartment for the one in which he transacted important business.

A NEW YORK paper justly laments the sacrilegious levity which applies to churches such nicknames as the following: Dr. Bellows' Church, in New York, is known by three names—"The Church of the Holy Zebra," "The Beefsteak Church," and "The Church of the Holy Gridiron." This building has a striped appearance. The Collegiate Reformed Church, New York, has a large metalic rooster for a weather vane, and is hence called "The Church of the Holy Shanghai." Jay Cooke's Church, at Put-in-Bay, on Lake Erie, is termed "The Church of the Holy Five-Twenties." An Episcopal church in Twenty-ninth street, is a long, low, straggling edifice, surrounded by trees, and therefore is extensively known as "The Church of the Holy Grasshopper," and also of the "Holy Cucumber Vine." A low roofed, sombre, circular Unitarian Church in Brooklyn is known as "The Church of the Holy Mud Turtle." To which list may be added the "Church of the Holy Elevator," in Milwaukee, and the "Church of the Holy Bootjack" (Bishop Whitehouse's) in Chicago.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all billious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. mv19:151-d&F

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

THE GAZETTE is furnished in the city for six days of the week for 15 cents per week; by mail, $8 per annum: 3 mos., $2.

Navigation was resumed on the Monongahela yesterday, the repairs to Lock No. 2 having been completed.

Room for Rent.—A furnished room, fronting on Wylie street, will be let to one or two gentlemen with or without board. The location is the most desirable on this street. Reference required. Call at No. 94 Wylie street for particulars. 3

Horse Trading.—John Sweeny and Henry Dodge had a horse trade yesterday which resulted in a quarrel, during which, according to Sweeny's allegations, he was knocked down and cruelly beaten. The parties reside in the Eighth ward and a warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused.

Felonious Assault and Battery.—Joseph Flickeinstein made information before Justice Heisel yesterday, charging Andrew Jones and others, whose names are unknown to the prosecutor, with felonious assault and battery. The accused, it is alleged, abused the son of the prosecutor. A warrant was issued.

A Row.—Jane Prichard, a resident of South Pittsburgh, got into a row with her neighbors, Elizabeth Jones and Thomas Jones, on Saturday, when,as she alleges, they beat and abused her. She made information before the Mayor yesterday, charging them with assault and battery. A warrant was issued.

Husband and Wife.—Yesterday Mary Williams brought her matrimonial griefs before Alderman Strain in an information for assault and battery against her husband Henry, who she alleges beat and abused her shamefully, Sunday afternoon. The parties reside in the Tenth Ward. Henry was arrested and held for a hearing.

Roof on Fire.—The alarm of fire yesterday morning, about eleven o'clock, from box 81, was occasioned by the burning of the roof on a double house in Crawford row, Herron avenue. The fire caught from the chimney, and an alarm was struck by a car conductor who observed it. The fire was extinguished with but slight damage.

Heavy Tax.—The firm of Joseph S. Finch & Co., the most extensive manufacturers of Rye Whisky in this end of the State, paid to the United States Collector of Revenue Taxes during the month of September $26,223.90 in taxes. This shows how honestly that firm conduct their business and sustain their relations with the Government.

Assault and Battery.—George Keyser made information before the Mayor yesterday, charging John Purley with assault and battery. It appears that the prosecutor was a candidate for Alderman in the Twelfth ward, and on Saturday when the primary election was held, Purley, it is alleged, attempted to drive Keyser from the ground and struck him. A warrant was issued.

Malicious Trespass.—Last night about eleven o'clock officer Smith brought to the lockup, Frank Millar, Wm. Spence, Henry Roberts, Ad. Neill, and Thomas Penney, all young men, charged with maliciously tresspassing upon the premises of D. C. King, at Saw Mill Run. Alderman McMasters issued the warrant upon which the arrest was made. They were arrested at Saw Mill Run.

Point Disturbed.—The quiet of the "Point" was again disturbed yesterday, by an encounter between Martha McGinnell and Ellen McFadden, the particulars of which are given in an information before Alderman Strain, wherein Martha charges Ellen with seizing her by the hair of the head in an ungentle manner, and then immersing her in a bucket of dirty water. For this cause Ellen was arrested, and gave bail for a hearing.

Felonious Assault.—James Carr yesterday evening made an assault upon officer John Barry, at the corner of Wylie street and Fifth avenue, with a pistol, threatening to kill him. Officer Barry, before his assailant had time to fire the pistol, succeeded in getting hold of the weapon and a scuffle ensued, when a police officer arrested both men and conducted them to the lockup. Barry was released and Carr was locked up for a hearing.

Shutzenfest at Oakland.

Yesterday a German Schutzenfest was held at Oakland Park, which was largely attended and passed off in a very pleasant manner. The following were the successful contestants, members of the society under whose auspices the affair was held: First prize, Frank Lutz; Second, Francis S. Hogel; Third, Gustave Mark; Fourth, Francis Mussman.

A citizens' contest followed, when the following were successful: First prize, Gustave Mark; second, Jacob Burns; Third, Gustave Mark; Fourth, Jacob Burns.

In the shooting match Jacob Burns carried off the first honor, making thirty-two bulls eyes, Gustave Marks made twenty-eight, Frank Lutz twenty-two, Wm. Holtzheimer ten.

The Schutzenfest throughout was a most enjoyable affair, and was highly enjoyed by all.

Time Works Changes.

In our walks through Allegheny yesterday, we were surprised to note an old and familiar church landmark converted into a bustling, busy workshop, where from morning till night rings out a sermon of industry. We refer to the conversion of Dr. Sproull's Covenanter Church, Nos. 166 and 168 Lacock street, into a foundry and machine works by that old and enterprising firm of Thomas Carlin & Co. These gentlemen recently became the purchasers of the property, and at considerable expense have changed it into one of the best appointed and most convenient foundries to be found anywhere. It has great capacity and a very large number of skilled and competent hands are constantly kept employed. The firm manufacture stationary and portable engines, of capacities from five horse power to sixty horse power, double and single saw mills, pulleys, shaftings and grist mill work, rolling mill and machine castings, grate bars, sash weights, wagon boxes, &c. We observed in the foundry, nearing completion, an immense sixty horse power engine of beautiful and perfect workmanship, intended for the coffin establishment of Messrs. Hamilton, Algeo & Co. It is one of the largest engines about and is regarded as a fine specimen of skillful workmanship. We are glad to note the change of quarters Messrs. Carlin & Co. have made, as it is full evidence of their continued prosperity. They are fair dealing, honorable and worthy gentlemen, and we bespeak for them an increase of the large share of trade they enjoy.

POLITICAL.

Meeting at City Hall—Addresses by Hon. John Scott and Hon. Galusha A. Grow.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather a large number of persons assembled at the Republican Mass Meeting at City Hall, last evening, and among the assembled multitude were many ladies, who occupied seats to the right of the speakers stand, reserved for them by the Committee of Arrangement. An excellent brass band was in attendance and enlivened the occasion with sweet music before the meeting organized and during the intervals between the speeches.

At eight o'clock the meeting was called to order by J. S. Lambie, Esq., Chairman of the Committee on Meetings and Speakers, on whose motion the following officers were elected:

President—Gen. James S. Negley.

Vice Presidents—David Reed, J. S. Slagle, David Sims, A. B. Stevenson, John Marshall, A. W. Rook, Jacob Ulrich, Maj. J. M. Knap, Josiah Cohen, Dr. Jos. Abel, Isaac Craig, E. T. Cassidy, Capt. Julius Montzheimer, Dr. W. J. Gilmore, Abe Patterson, Abijah Hays, H. F. Eggers, Campbell Duff, Thomas L. Small, Jos. Douglas, John Murphy, H. S. Baum, J. J. Miller, Maj. Jos. Rigby, Robt. Houston, Gen. J. B. Sweitzer, John Morrison, of Patton township, H. S. McKee, Jos. Miller, Jos. Ross.

Secretaries—Col. John Glenn, J. M. Gazzam, W. P. Miller.

General Negley, on taking the chair, thanked the meeting for the honor conferred on him; after which he introduced Hon. John Scott, in a few complimentary remarks.

REMARKS OF MR. SCOTT.

Mr. Scott, after a few introductory remarks, said that the only question now before the people of this State was whether they were willing to go back to the Democratic dogmas of receiving rebellious States' rights and slavery. These had been the issues for the past eight years, and the people had on every occasion rejected them, and before their successive verdicts in favor of the principles of the Republican party, were reversed, some good reasons should be given.

The speaker then took up the Democratic platform, and discussed it to see if there were any reasons given why a change should be made in the administration of the State government. The fourth resolution, he said, held that reform was necessary. It was an easy matter, he said, for the party out of power to cry out for reform for the purpose of getting into power, but when they were asked to specify wherein the reform was necessary, the task was not so easy.

Mr. Scott then proceeded to show that the financial affairs of the Commonwealth had never been so admirably managed under a Democratic administration. Notwithstanding the fact that a large number of the working population had been required to protect the government during the rebellion and a heavy war debt had been contracted and paid, the State debt had been reduced under Republican rule at the rate of two millions a year, and in addition the tax on real estate had been repealed. He said the way to have reform was to elect honest men, and he thought there were as many honest men to be found in the Republican party as in the Democratic party.

The question of protection was then ably discussed.

The remaining resolutions were passed over hurriedly, after which, the Speaker returned to the first three resolutions in the platform, which have a national bearing. He said that they embodied the old Democratic doctrines of secession, nullification and anarchy. These resolutions, he said, held the doctrine that no amendment to the National Constitution was binding upon a State that did not give its consent to it, notwithstanding the Constitution itself provided that if three-fourths of the States ratified an amendment, properly submitted it was binding in all the States.

The speaker referred to the opposing candidates for Governor and Supreme Judge. Admitting, he said, all that was claimed for Mr. Packer, that he was wealthy and honest, it did not give him any claims over Governor Geary who, although not rich, was as honest as Mr. Packer, and if Lehigh University stood as a monument to Packer, Lookout Mountain stood much higher, and would stand longer, a monument to John W. Geary. Admitting Mr. Pershing to be one of the best lawyers in Cambria county was no reason why he should supercede Judge Williams, whose legal ability was well known and whose honesty, integrity and loyalty had never been questioned.

Hon. Galusha A. Grow was then introduced and made a brief but eloquent address, which was listened to with marked attention and deep interest by the large audience.

Thomas Howard, Esq., candidate for State Senate, was then loudly called for by the audience, and reponded in a brief address, after which the meeting adjourned.

Allegheny Primary Election—Meeting of the Return Judges—The Official Vote—Callow's Total Majority.

Yesterday afternoon at two o'clock the Return Judges of the Allegheny City primary election assembled at the Common Council Chamber, city building, to receive the returns from the several wards in the city, of the vote for Mayor and Director of the Poor.

An organization was effected by calling W. H. Alexander, of the Second ward, to the chair, and appointing W. B. Rodgers, of the Fourth ward, Secretary.

After receiving returns from some of the wards, the judges from the others not being present, an adjournment took place until 7½ o'clock in the evening.

Upon re-assembling all but the Eighth ward returns were found to be ready, and the Secretary read off the list as follows:

	DRUM.	CALLOW.	PITCAIRN.
First ward	236	213

DIRECTOR OF THE POOR.

For Director of the Poor, Mr. George Gerst had no opposition and received 2,516 votes.

A discussion followed the reading of the returns on certain alleged illegalities and frauds in the voting for the mayoralty candidates, but no action was taken, and on motion Messrs. Callow and Gerst were declared the nominees of the party for Mayor and Director of the Poor.

The next business taken up was the appointment of an Executive Committee for the ensuing year.

On motion, the number of the Committee was fixed at five from each ward, with the exception of the Third and Fourth wards which were allowed seven representatives. Owing to the absence of the representatives from several of the wards, the Committee could not be completed, and after passing a resolution granting the Judges from the unrepresented wards power to appoint members of the Executive Committe, for their districts, the meeting adjourned.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Mellon.

MONDAY, October 4.—The first case taken up was that of the Commonwealth vs. Thomas White, indicted for breaking and entering a dwelling in the day-time. William, Thrumston, prosecutor. It was alleged that the accused, on or about the 30th day of July, attempted, or did, enter the dwelling of the prosecutor, on Butler street, in the Fifteenth Ward, with intent to commit a felony. The jury rendered a verdict of not guilty.

Christian Michael, indicted for assault and battery, on oath of Wm. Beitner, was next placed on trial. It was alleged that the defendant struck the prosecutor while in a saloon in Birmingham. The defense alleged that the prosecutor was drunk and fell with his head against a stove, inflicting a severe wound in the head. Verdict of not guilty and costs divided between the parties.

John Roberts, indicted for fornex et cet., Margaret Hooper, prosecutrix, was arraigned and plead guilty. The usual sentence was passed upon him, and it is probable he will lie in the county jail until taken out under the insolvent act.

John Graham, indicted for assault and battery, on oath of Mary Schwerdt, was next arraigned for trial. It is alleged that on the 26th of August the defendant and George Schwerdt, husband of the prosecutrix, had a difficulty in the Allegheny Diamond, in which Graham knocked Schwerdt down, and kicked him several times in the face. A verdict of guilty was returned, and the prisoner was sentenced to pay a fine of $25, the costs of the prosecution, and to thirty days in the Workhouse.

James Ferguson, colored, was tried on an indictment charging him with the larceny as bailee of eight dollars in money. It appeared from the evidence that a colored friend had loaned Ferguson the money, and therefore was not guilty of a criminal offence. The Court so charged the jury, and Mr. Ferguson was acquitted.

Wm. Moore and Charles Baugh were placed on trial, charged with breaking into the dwelling of Frank Jones, at 117 Penn street, on the 9th of August. Mrs. Whiting, who resides on Fayette street, in the rear of Mr. Jones' house, was the first witness called. She identified both the prisoners as the persons she saw coming out of Mr. Jones' house at the time the alleged offense was committed. The family of Mr. Jones were not at home at the time of the robbery. It will be remembered that a lot of wearing apparel was stolen, and that Lieutenant Myers Barker, of the Mayor's police, arrested these men on suspicion. On trial.

A Mysterious Homicide.

A singular affair occurred in the Twelfth ward yesterday evening, about five o'clock, resulting in the almost instant death af Johnie Loose, a little boy six years of age, son of John Loose, boot and shoe dealer, at No. 620 Penn street. The little fellow was in the front room over his father's store, with two or three other members of the family, and was looking out of a window, when he suddenly fell back into the room. His mother seeing him fall ran and picked him up, when she discovered that blood was issuing from a wound in his cheek below the left eye.

Dr. Shaw, who was at the time visiting a patient in an adjoining house, was summoned, but was unable to render any assistance, and the boy expired in about fifteen minutes after the wound was received. No person in the neighborhood, so far as we could learn, heard the report of a gun or pistol, which would indicate that the shot was fired some distance away. A report was current that a shot had been fired from street car No. 30, on the Citizens' Railway, at the time and near the place where the sad affair occurred, but the statement is denied by the conductor of the car.

The Coroner will hold an inquest on the body this morning.

Marvin's crackers, the best manufactured, may be obtained at the establishment, No. 91 Liberty street, or at any first class grocery throughout the cities.

Removal.

When a merchant removes from an old to a new stand the press is apt to notify the public of the change. It is of equal importance to families to be informed of a similar change when a well known and popular butcher removes to a new and more eligible stand. Mr. J. F. Beilstein, one of our most enterprising and accommodating butchers, has by his care to be always prepared with just the cuts and quality of beef, mutton, veil, &c., that suited his customers, desires now to inform said customers that for their better accommodation and to provide for his increasing custom, he has purchased from Peter Shatz his stand, No. 85, in the Pittsburgh Market, east side, where, on and after the 6th inst., he will be prepared better than ever to serve his customers, old and new. Mr. Beilstein's business has grown up within a few years to its present magnitude, and his custom is made up largely of our best families in both cities, owing mainly to two important characteristics, which he constantly exemplifies, viz: He will buy or slaughter none but select animals free from disease, and carefully fatted; by this he deserves patronage, and to secure what he so well deserves, both he and his assistants wait promptly and politely on all comers. We might add that Mr. Beilstein thinks it worth while through the press to let the community know, from time to time, where and from whom they may depend on finding at all times the very best qualities of the various meats. That his customers may have confidence in the truth of these facts, it is only necessary to say that Mr. Beilsetin never slaughters animals just taken from the stock cars, nor such as have just finished a journey, but only such as he has owned and kept long enough to be sure that their flesh is neither diseased nor heated by travel. House keepers will appreciate the great importance of his circumspection in these important particulars, and may therefore depend on the very choicest of wholesome meats by dealing with Mr. Beilstein, at his stand, whether in the Pittsburgh or Allegheny market.

Bennet's New Billiard Hall.

Kunz's stone front building, No. 68 Smithfield street, has long been regarded as one of the architectural ornaments of the city, being a beautiful and elegant edifice, both regarding the exterior and interior. It has recently changed hands, Mr. John S. Kennedy, the former lessee, removing elsewhere, and Mr. George H. Bennett taking possession on a lease for a term of years. The new proprietor, a gentleman of capital and taste, has thoroughly refitted and refurnished the building and re-opened it as a fashionable, first class billiard saloon. Five new and elegant tables, combining all the modern patents and advantages, have been placed in the palatial hall on the second floor, and nowhere else in the city will the lovers of the noble game of ball and cue find better or more pleasant accommodations. The saloon, which is entirely separate from the billiard hall, is a perfect model of beauty and taste, and is always supplied with the finest and choicest of foreign and domestic wines, liquors and cigars, while oysters and refreshments will be served up in the best styles at the shortest notice. We can commend Mr. Bennett, the proprietor, as a gentleman eminently worthy a full share of patronage, being genial, courteous and obliging, and we are sure his palace billiard saloon will receive a large share of custom from those who can appreciate the superior advantages.

The Secret of Success.

The great secret of success in any branch of trade consists in being always up to the times, and ever ready to anticipate and supply the wants of the people. To this fact Col. J. D. Egan owes the success and popularity which has attended his book and news depot on Sixth avenue, below Smithfield street. By careful attention to business he has been enabled to be always ahead, and thus the patronage of the establishment has been gradually extending, and is now very large and remunerative. At present he has on hand a choice and attractive selection of volumes, treating on almost every conceivable subject in science, literature or art, among which are some rare and valuable books which cannot be procured at any other establishment in the city. In the department of magazines, periodicals and newspapers the store will also be found fully supplied with the very latest issues. Not an unattractive feature of the Colonel's house is the prices, which are a marvel to those who have been accoustomed to pay exorbitant rates for inferior articles by other unprincipled dealers. Our readers should call on the Colonel and be satisfied personally.

Ladies do appreciate the fact that furs can be bought now at less prices than if delayed later in the season, and consequently we don't marvel that they are flocking in such large numbers to the great representative first class Ladies' Fur House of Wm. Fleming & Co., No. 139 Wood street, when all articles in the line from the humble to the richest and most costly grades can be purchased at from 15 to 25 per cent. below regular prices. This favorite house has already sold large quantities of all the new styles of Mink and Sable collars and cuffs, capes and muffs, together with fashionable Astrican cloaks, collars and muffs. Of one thing purchasers are assured, that the goods found at Wm. Fleming & Co.'s are all of extra quality, style and finish, and as every article is warranted and no deception practiced or false representations made in order to secure a sale, we can consequently advise our readers in want of anything in the line of ladies' and misses' furs to visit this popular and fashionable emporium without delay. By so doing, they will positively save money in getting the widest selection in the best goods at the lowest prices.

[Extract from a letter from Jerusalem.]

"We started early to ascend Mt. Olivet, to behold the sun gild the minarets and towers of the devoted city, from the place where memory, stirred by a thousand associations, should exalt the mind as well as the eye to the inspiration of the scene. Well is the voyager repaid for long travels, horrid roads, antediluvian cookery, squalid companionship and the importunities of begging, thieving Arabs. Well would it have repaid you, oh! man of commerce and the crucible! and well might you have been reminded of your own city, for here, painted upon a board nailed against one of the huge ancient olive trees, under which the sacred martyrs toiled for the sins of the world, eighteen hundred years ago, were these familiar figures, S. T.—1860—X. We do not know who did it, but no doubt some poor invalid traveler, cured by the PLANTATION BITTERS, wished to advertise their virtues in a place from whence all knowledge flows."
